

3.0 LAWS ON DEMARCATION

3.1 Articles 47 (1992 Constitution)

Constituencies.

47 (1) Ghana shall be divided into as many constituencies for the purpose of election of members of Parliament as the Electoral Commission may prescribe, and each constituency shall be represented by one member of Parliament.

(2) No constituency shall fall within more than one region.

(3) The boundaries of each constituency shall be such that the number of inhabitants in the constituency is, as nearly as possible, equal to the population quota.

(4) For the purposes of clause (3) of this article, the number of inhabitants of a constituency may be greater or less than the population quota in order to take account of means of communication, geographical features, density of population and area and boundaries of the regions and other administrative or traditional areas.

(5) The Electoral Commission shall review the division of Ghana into constituencies at intervals of not less than seven years, or within twelve months after the publication of the enumeration figures after the holding of a census of the population of Ghana, whichever is earlier, and may, as a result, alter the constituencies.

(6) Where the boundaries of a constituency established under this article are altered as a result of a review, the alteration shall come into effect upon the next dissolution of Parliament.

(7) For the purposes of this article, “population quota” means the number obtained by dividing the number of inhabitants of Ghana by the number of constituencies into which Ghana is divided under this article.

3.2 Articles 48 (1992 Constitution)

Appeals From Decisions of Commission.

48. (1) A person aggrieved by a decision of the Electoral Commission in respect of a demarcation of a boundary, may appeal to a tribunal consisting of three persons appointed by the Chief Justice; and the Electoral Commission shall give effect to the decision of the tribunal.

(2) A person aggrieved by a decision of the tribunal referred to in clause (1) of this article may appeal to the Court of Appeal whose decision on the matter shall be final.

3.3 C.I. 46 - REPRESENTATION OF THE PEOPLE (PARLIAMENTARY CONSTITUENCIES) INSTRUMENT, 2004

Constituencies for election to Parliament.

1. (1) Ghana is divided into two hundred and thirty Constituencies for the purposes of election of members of the Parliament which will hold its first sitting in January, 2005, and for subsequent elections.
- (2) Each Constituency shall be represented by one member in Parliament.

Area of constituencies.

2. The electoral areas specified in the third column of the Schedule to this Instrument are hereby determined as the areas of the constituencies specified in the first column of the Schedule and the constituency headquarters are as specified in the second column of the Schedule.

Renovation and transitional provision.

3. (1) The Representation of the People (Parliamentary Constituencies) Instrument, 1992 (L.I.1538) is hereby revoked.
- (2) Notwithstanding the revocation under subregulation (1), a person representing a constituency under the revoked instrument shall continue to hold office until the Parliament is dissolved.
