PREAMBLE

At zero hours on 25 June 1975, the Central Committee of the Mozambique Liberation Front (FRELIMO) solemnly proclaimed the total and complete independence of Mozambique and its establishment as the People's Republic of Mozambique.

This was the culmination of a centuries long process of resistance to colonial rule. It was the unforgettable victory of the armed national liberation struggle, led by FRELIMO, which united, under the same ideals of freedom, unity, justice and progress, patriots from all levels of Mozambican society.

The Constitution, as then proclaimed, recognized the determinant role of FRELIMO as the legitimate representative of the Mozambican people. Under its leadership, the process of the exercise of state power as an expression of the people's will was begun.

The State that we created has made it possible for the Mozambican people to strengthen democracy and, for the first time in its history, to exercise political power and to organize and direct social and economic affairs at a national level.

The experience of the operation of State institutions and the exercise of democracy by citizens has created the need for change and new definitions.

After 15 years of independence, the Mozambican people, in the exercise of their inalienable right to sovereignty and determined to consolidate the nation's unity and to respect the dignity of all Mozambicans, adopts and proclaims this Constitution, which shall be the fundamental law for all political and social organization in the Republic of Mozambique.

The fundamental rights and freedoms enshrined in the Constitution are the achievements of the Mozambican people's struggle to build a society of social justice, where the equality of citizens and the rule of law are the pillars of democracy.

We, the Mozambican people, determined to strengthen our country's political order, in a spirit of responsibility and pluralism of opinion, have decided to organize society in such a way that the will of the citizens shall be the most important precept of our sovereignty.

PART I. BASIC PRINCIPLES

CHAPTER I. THE REPUBLIC

Article 1

The Republic of Mozambique is an independent, sovereign, unitary and democratic state of social justice.

Article 2

1. Sovereignty is vested in the people.
2. The Mozambican people shall exercise their sovereignty in the manner provided for in the Constitution.

Article 3

1. The territory of the Republic of Mozambique is unitary, indivisible and inalienable, comprising the entire land surface, territorial waters and air space delimited by the national boundaries.
2. The breadth, limits and legal order of Mozambique's territorial waters, the exclusive economic zone, the contiguous zone and seabed rights shall be fixed by law.

Article 4

1. The territory of the Republic of Mozambique shall be subdivided into provinces, districts, administrative posts and localities.
2. Urban zones shall be classified as either cities or towns.
3. The characteristics of each of the levels of territorial organization and the creation of new levels, as well as the areas of authority within the political and administrative organization shall be fixed by law.

Article 5

1. In the Republic of Mozambique, Portuguese is the official language.
2. The State recognizes the value of the national languages and shall promote their development and increased role as languages which are used in the daily life and in the education of citizens.

Article 6

The fundamental aims of the Republic of Mozambique are:

- a) the defense independence and sovereignty;
- b) the consolidation of national unity;
- c) the building of a society of social justice, and the achievement of material and spiritual well-being for its citizens;

- d) the defense and promotion of human rights and the equality of citizens before the law;
- e) the strengthening of democracy, freedom and social and individual stability;
- f) the development of the economy and scientific and technological progress;
- g) the affirmation of the Mozambican character, its traditions and other social and cultural values;
- h) the establishment and development of relations of friendship and cooperation with other peoples and states.

Article 7

1. The Republic of Mozambique upholds the values of the heroic struggle and centuries of resistance by the Mozambican people against foreign domination.
2. In the building of the Mozambican nation, in the strengthening of national unity, and in the promotion of the democratic participation of citizens, the State shall retain as a national heritage the decisive role played by the Mozambique Liberation Front (FRELIMO) in the victory over colonialism and in the winning of national independence.

Article 8

1. The Republic of Mozambique acknowledges and shall honour the sacrifices made by those who gave their lives for the national liberation struggle and for the defense of the country's sovereignty.
2. The state shall guarantee the special care and protection of both those who suffered permanent injury in the national liberation struggle and in the defense of independence, sovereignty and territorial integrity as well as the orphans and other dependents of those who died in this cause.

Article 9

1. The Republic of Mozambique is a secular State.
2. The activity of religious institutions shall be subject to the law.
3. The State recognizes and values the activities of religious denominations which promote a climate of social understanding and tolerance and strengthen national unity.

1. If a proposed amendment implies fundamental changes in the rights of citizens or in the organization of public powers, the proposal, after adoption by the Assembly of the Republic, shall be submitted to public debate and to a referendum.
2. The results of the referendum and the approved constitutional text shall be adopted by the Assembly of the Republic in the form of a constitutional law, and shall be published by order of the President of the Republic.
3. In other cases, amendments to the Constitution shall be adopted by a two-thirds majority of the deputies of the Assembly of the Republic.

PART VI. CONCLUDING AND TRANSITIONAL PROVISIONS

Article 200

The Constitution shall take precedence over all other law.

Article 201

In the Republic of Mozambique, law may only be retroactive when this is to the benefit of citizens and other legal persons.

Article 202

Until the Constitutional Council has been established, its powers shall be exercised by the Supreme Court.

Article 203

Insofar as they are not contrary to the Constitution, previous laws shall remain in force until modified or repealed.

Article 204

1. Until general elections are held, the President of the Republic of Mozambique shall be the President of the Frelimo Party.

2. The provisions of article 119 regarding the election of the President of the Republic shall come into force with the holding of the next presidential elections.

Article 205

1. The deputies to the People's Assembly shall retain their seats until general elections are held pursuant to this Constitution.

2. Deputies to the People's Assemblies at other territorial levels shall retain their seats until elections are held under the electoral law.

Article 206

The Constitution shall come into force on 30 November 1990.
