

Presidential Elections (Special Provisions)
Act No. 2 of 1981
(Certified on 29th January, 1981)

L.D. - O. 56/80

AN ACT TO MAKE PROVISIONS FOR THE PROCEDURE FOR THE ELECTION OF THE PRESIDENT OF THE DEMOCRATIC SOCIALIST REPUBLIC OF SRI LANKA IN TERMS OF ARTICLE 40 OF THE CONSTITUTION AND TO PROVIDE FOR MATTERS CONNECTED THERE WITH OR INCIDENTAL THERETO.

BE it enacted by the Parliament of the Democratic Socialist Republic of Sri Lanka as follows :-

1. This Act may be cited as the Presidential Elections (Special Provisions) Act, No. 2 of 1981. Short title.
2. The provisions of this Act shall apply when the office of President shall become vacant in terms of Article 38 (1) of the Constitution. Application of the provisions of this Act.
3. (1). Where the office of President becomes vacant in terms of paragraph (1) of Article 38 of the Constitution, other than sub paragraph (f) of that paragraph, Parliament shall elect as President one of its members who is qualified to be elected to the office of President, to hold office for the un-expired period of the term of office of the President vacating office. Parliament to elect President in certain circumstances.
(2). Such election shall be held as soon as possible after, and in no case later than one month from, the date of occurrence of the vacancy:

Provided that if such vacancy occurs after the dissolution of Parliament, the President shall be elected by the new Parliament within one month of its first meeting.
4. The occurrence of a vacancy in the office of President shall, when Parliament has not been dissolved, operate as a summoning of Parliament to meet within three days of such occurrence. The Secretary General of Parliament (hereinafter referred to as the "Secretary-General") shall inform the members of Parliament of the date and time fixed for such meeting. Occurrence of vacancy shall operate as a summoning of Parliament.

|----|---|--|
| 5. | When Parliament meets in pursuance of section 4, the Secretary General shall inform Parliament that a vacancy in the office of President has occurred. He shall fix a date and time at which nominations shall be received by him being a date not earlier than forty eight hours and not later than seven days from the date of such meeting. | Secretary General to inform Parliament of vacancy. |
| 6. | (1). On the date fixed for the receipt of nominations Parliament shall meet and the Secretary General shall act as the returning officer. (2). A member who wishes to propose any other member for election to the office of President shall obtain prior written consent of the member whom he wishes to propose indicating that such member is willing to serve if elected. (3). A member addressing himself to the Secretary General shall propose some other member present in Parliament to the office of President. The proposal shall be seconded by another member, but no debate shall be allowed. (4). If only one member be so proposed and seconded to the office of President he shall be declared by the Secretary General to have been elected to such office. If more than one member be so proposed and seconded, Parliament shall, subject to subsection (2) of section 3, fix a date and time for the holding of the election, such date being a date not later than forty eight hours from the time of receiving nominations. | Nomination day |
| 7. | (1). On the date fixed for the holding of the election, the Secretary General shall act as the returning officer and shall, subject to the following provisions, do all things necessary for the conduct of the election. (2). Before voting commences the returning officer shall show the empty ballot box or boxes to the members and thereafter seal it or them, as the case may be, in their presence. (3). When voting commences, the returning officer shall call out the name of each member including the Speaker who shall proceed to the returning officer's table and receive a ballot paper. The returning officer shall initial the back of the ballot paper with his initials in the presence of the member. (4). The member who receives a ballot paper shall then proceed to the cubicle provided in the chamber and mark his ballot paper. | Procedure on election day. |

- (5). Every ballot paper shall be substantially in the Form in the Schedule hereto, and shall contain the names of all the candidates.
 - (6). When a member has received a ballot paper, he shall signify thereon, in the manner hereinafter provided, for whom he desires to vote. The member shall then fold the ballot paper so that the returning officer's initials thereon may be visible and, having held up the ballot paper in such manner as to enable the returning officer to see the initials, shall put the ballot paper in a ballot box or one of the ballot boxes, if there is more than one, placed on the returning officer's table.
 - (7). If a member inadvertently spoils a ballot paper, he may return it to the returning officer who shall, if satisfied of such inadvertence, give him another ballot paper and the spoiled ballot paper shall be immediately cancelled by such returning officer.
 - (8). The Returning Officer shall, before the voting is due to end, call out a second time the name of any member who has not voted when his name was called out under subsection (3). If such member does not vote after his name is called out a second time, he shall be deemed to have abstained from voting.
8. Each member shall have only one vote. No vote shall be given by proxy. A member in giving his vote -
- Manner of voting.
- (a). shall place on his ballot paper the figure 1 in the square opposite the name of the candidate for whom he votes; and
 - (b). may, in addition, place on his ballot paper the figure 2, or the figures 2 and 3, or the figures 2, 3 and 4, and so on, in the squares opposite the names of the candidates in the order of his preferences.
9. A ballot paper shall be invalid -
- Rejection of ballot papers.
- (a). on which anything is written or marked, by which the member can be identified; or
 - (b). which does not bear the returning officer's initials; or
 - (c). on which the figure 1 is not marked; or
 - (d). on which the figure 1 is marked opposite the name of more than one candidate; or
 - (e). which is unmarked or void for uncertainty.

10. (1). The Returning Officer shall examine the ballot papers and shall, after rejecting any invalid ballot papers, divide the remaining ballot papers according to the first preferences recorded for each candidate. He shall then count the number of preferences recorded for each candidate. The count.
- (2). If any candidate desires to be present at the counting of votes he may do so or if he wishes to appoint another member to represent him at the counting he may inform the returning officer after obtaining the consent of that member.
11. Where any candidate has received more than one half of the valid votes cast, the Returning Officer shall forthwith declare such candidate elected to the office of President. Declaration where a candidate receives absolute majority.
12. (1). Where no candidate has received more than one half of the valid votes cast, the returning officer shall eliminate from the contest the candidate who has received the lowest number of votes, and the second preference of each member whose vote had been for the candidate eliminated from the contest shall be counted as a vote for the candidate for whom such preference is recorded and shall be added to the votes already counted in his favour. Procedure where no candidate receives absolute majority.
- (2). Where after the elimination and count referred to in subsection (1), no candidate has received more than one half of the valid votes cast, the returning officer shall proceed with the count, eliminating after each such count the candidate who has received the lowest number of votes at that count and adding to the number of votes already counted in favour of the remaining candidates -
- (a). the second preference of a member whose vote was in favour of a candidate eliminated from the contest; or
- (b). where such second preference was in favour of a candidate already eliminated from the contest, the third preference of such member; or
- ©. where such third preference was in favour of a candidate already eliminated from the contest, the next preference of such member.

- (3). Where at the end of the count referred to in sub section (2), no candidate has obtained more than one half of the valid votes, the Returning Officer shall declare the candidate who has obtained the majority of the votes at that count, elected to the office of President.
13. (1). Where an equality is found to exist between the votes received by two candidates, and the addition of one vote would determine which candidate would be declared President under this Act, the determination of the candidate to whom such additional vote shall be deemed to have been given for the purpose of such determination shall be made by lot by the Returning Officer in such manner as he may, in his absolute discretion, determine, and he shall declare such candidate elected to the office of President. Equality of votes.
- (2). Where an equality is found to exist between two or more candidates and the addition of one vote would determine which candidate is not to be eliminated under this Act, then the determination of the candidate to whom such additional vote shall be deemed to have been given for the purpose of such determination shall be made by lot by the Returning Officer in such manner as he may, in his absolute discretion, determine.
14. Where the office of President shall become vacant after the dissolution of Parliament, the President shall be elected by the new Parliament within one month of its first meeting. Vacancy occurring during dissolution
15. At the first meeting of the new Parliament in terms of Article 40 (1) of the Constitution the Secretary General shall announce that a vacancy in the office of President has occurred and shall at such meeting receive nominations to fill such vacancy. The provisions of section 6 shall, mutatis mutandis, be applicable to the receipt of nominations under this section. First meeting to be nomination day.
16. The provisions of sections 7,8,9,10,11,12 and 13 shall, mutatis mutandis, apply to and in relation to the election of a President under section 14. Procedure for election, counting of votes, rejection of ballot papers, & c.
